Included in this report are full-time, degree-seeking new freshmen who enrolled in the fall semester or prior summer term.

Note* The "total" six -year graduation rate reported on the Integrated Postsecondary Education Data System (IPEDS) Graduation Rate Survey allows institutions to count those students who successfully complete a transfer preparatory program, including pre-nursing and pre-allied health at LSU A&M.

Additional notes: In 1988 LSU implemented admission requirements which designated 17 1/2 units of high school courses. In 1990, a minimum high school grade point average of 2.0/4.0 was added to the unit requirements. In 1995, the minimum grade point average was raised to 2.3/4.0. In Fall 2000, requirements increased to a 2.5/4.0 grade point average and a 20 on the ACT. In Fall 2005, requirements increased to a 3.0/4.0 grade point average and a 20 on the ACT. Also, beginning in 2005, the Board of Regents established minimum admissions criteria for all public postsecondary colleges and universities. For LSU, that criteria were completion of the Regents high school core curriculum combined with one of the following requirements: 3.0 overall high school gpa or 25 ACT composite score or top 10% in high school graduating class. In Fall 2012 the criteria were changed to completion of the Regents 'Core of 19 units (from Core 4 Curriculum) combined with one of the following: 3.0 gpa on the core or 25 ACT composite score. Beginning in 1990 ACT scores are enhanced. Beginning Fall 2009, for students submitting both ACT and SAT scores, the highest of the two is reported. In the instance that SAT is higher, it has been reported as the ACT equivalent.

Beginning in 1994, students who did not meet all requirements for admission to LSU were able to apply for admission to the ACCESS program. Included in the "New Freshmen" numbers above are: 70 ACCESS freshmen in 1994, 261 ACCESS freshmen in 1995, 378 ACCESS freshmen in 1996, and 202 ACCESS freshmen in 1997.

Tuition Opportunity Program for Students (TOPS) began in Fall 1998.
