Course Description
This course is designed to elucidate the process of public policymaking by an intensive study of cultural policy with reference to its theoretical constructs, the variety of public policies, and the special case of the United States. Support for the performing arts and museums are discussed as issues involving cultural identity, ideologies, and hegemony. Different models of cultural patronage internationally are evaluated. Furthermore, the importance of private, not for profit cultural institutions as a distinguishing characteristic of American cultural patronage is evaluated. Public support for the arts and culture in the United States has also been associated with recurring controversies that pit politics against aesthetics. Finally, arguments in support of public support for the arts and culture are discussed.

Required Books

- Davila, Arlene M. Sponsored Identities
- Kramer, Jane. Whose Art Is It?
- Giroux, Henry. The Mouse that Roared

Requirements
The following will be required from all students in the course:

1. Three papers. 2,000 words discussing each of the three books. (50 pts each)

2. A take home midterm consisting of questions from all lectures and films up until that point. Midterm exams will be distributed in class the week before they are due. Length 2,100 words. (150 pts)

3. The final exam will be distributed at the last class meeting prior to its due date, and is due at the regular class time the following Tuesday. Final exams will consist of questions regarding all lectures and films from the second half of the course. Length: 2,100 words. (150 pts)

4. Three in-class tests on each of the four assigned books. (50 pts each)

5. Ten pop quizzes given randomly throughout the semester. (10 pts each)
Required Essays
Essays and exams are due at the beginning of the class day as scheduled. Late work will be penalized at least a letter grade. The book essays should be 2,100 words in length with frequent in-text citations and topical subheading. The principled themes of the book should be discussed and conclude with an overall evaluation.

Midterm and Final Exams
Both the midterm and final exams will consist of questions concerning the lectures and movies we have viewed up until that point. It is recommended that our midterm and final exam lengths are 2,100 words. HINT – It is advisable to take notes during the movies.

Class Participation/Attendance
Participation is expected and should be informed by the quality, as distinct from the quantity, of the discussion. Since your presence in class is the sine qua non of a discussion, more than one absence will result in a reduction of one letter grade per each addition absence.

It is expected that the student will attend every class during the semester, having done the assigned readings. It is certainly understood that a student might miss a class for personal, family or health reasons. If it is anticipated that more than one class will be missed, it would be recommended that you discuss this with me. It is better to have a discussion with me in advance of any extended absences rather than incur a letter grade reduction due to insufficient attendance. In short, please be a good citizen about attendance.

The class begins at 6:00 as noted in the schedule, and ends at 9:00. There will be a 15-minute break from 7:25 to 7:35 (someone should remind me of this in class). Again, be a good citizen about arriving on time and staying the duration of the class. If you need to leave early, speak with the instructor; it is understood that occasionally people come unavoidably late, especially due to the Darwinian parking situation. Again, please be a good citizen about your attendance and punctuality.
