The purpose of this course is to introduce poverty as the key to understanding some of the most important problems facing our county. The class will start by defining public policy and its origins. We will then move to a discussion of how we define poverty, its causes, and our choice of solutions. Because poverty has been defined as a problem worthy of national government attention since the 1930s, any discourse on poverty is inherently a political one.

Course Requirements
You are expected to come to class prepared to participate in the discussion of the day’s reading assignment. There is no textbook for this course. All of the class readings can be downloaded from the Moodle website or found via a link on the Moodle website. An * next to a class date indicates a reading assignment. All students must abide by the Student Academic Honor Code. Cheating will not be tolerated. All electronic devices (cell phones, ipads, laptops, etc) must be placed inside a zipped backpack during exams. Failure to place electronic devices inside a zipped backpack will be considered cheating.

Exams
There are three exams in the course. Each exam is worth 120 points and will consist of forty multiple choice questions (2 points each) and four short answer questions (10 points each). You must bring a scantron to class for the exam. Exams are not cumulative. If you miss an exam, you may take a makeup exam on Thursday, December 6th immediately following our final exam time. The makeup consists of two essay questions worth 60 points each.

Quizzes
There will be 8 pop quizzes or homework assignments scattered throughout the course. Each quiz or assignment is worth 20 points. Only 5 quizzes/assignments will count towards your grade so if you take all 8, I will count the best 5 of the 8 grades. Quizzes may consist of information from previous class lectures or the assigned reading. THERE ARE NO MAKEUPS ON QUIZZES/HOMEWORK ASSIGNMENTS. There are no exceptions to this rule unless I am given a University excuse. In addition, a homework assignment may only be turned in during the class in which it is due.

Paper
There is one two-part paper assignment for the course. The first part is a 20 point thought paper due on September 6th at the beginning of class. You must answer the following questions based on your current beliefs:
1. Why are poor people poor?
2. What is the responsibility of government when it comes to dealing with poverty?

Answers for each question should be one to two paragraphs long and written in complete sentences. The paper should be double spaced, with one inch margins, and use Times New Roman 12 point font. The paper should be 2 pages long and stapled. The only information needed at the top of the page is your name and the date on the same line.
The second part of the paper is worth 100 points and is due at the start of class on November 27th. You must answer the questions listed above again, but this time you must defend your answer based on the readings from this course plus readings you gather from outside the course. When readings are cited, you may use parenthetical citations (example: (Davis and Bali 2008)). This paper must be 5 pages long, double spaced, with one inch margins, and use Times New Roman 12 point font. The paper must answer both questions in a single essay format. In other words, your discussion of why poor people are poor should inform your discussion of government responsibility for the problem. You must incorporate at least 5 readings from the course and 3 readings from outside the course. Your outside sources must be from academic journals, books, or think tanks. Your name and the course information must be included on a title page that does NOT count in the page total. The bibliography does NOT count in the page total. Do not put your name anywhere on the paper besides the title page. You must turn in a hard copy of this paper. Early papers may be placed in my office mailbox.

Bonus
Each of you starts out with 5 bonus points. These 5 points are yours to lose. You may lose some or all of these points for the following offenses.
- Emailing me and asking me questions that can be answered using the syllabus or that can be answered using LSU’s website. Some examples are “Where is your office?” “When are your office hours?”
- Emailing me and telling me why you missed an exam.
- Emailing me some form of the following questions: “Can you give me a B? If you don’t I’ll lose my TOPS,” or “Can you give me a [insert grade]? I won’t graduate without it.”
