Course Description
This course seeks to introduce students to the basic principals and study of the US government. Beyond simply identifying the rules and branches of government, this course will evaluate how the US government has evolved from the founding to the modern era. We will explore how politics and institutions shapes policy outcomes. Students will also be introduced to how political scientists study both American institutions and political behavior.

Course Objectives
Upon the completion of this course, the student should be able to:

- Identify the institutions of the US government and understand how the foundations for these institutions derive from the US Constitution;
- Describe the basic principals of the US governmental system and how those principals have evolved from the founding into the present day;
- Describe the role of public opinion, electoral politics, and linkage organizations in US government;
- Evaluate policy outputs from the US government and identify how those outputs are influenced by different aspects of the American system of government.

Course Requirements
Exams
There are 3 exams in this class. Each exam is worth 100 points. It will be a multiple choice exam and must be completed on a scantron. The first exam covers the foundations of American government. The second exam covers the institutions of American government. The third exam covers American political behavior. The first two exams will be given during class time. The third exam is not cumulative but will be given during the final exam time scheduled for this class.

Unless a student makes arrangement to take an exam early, all make up exams will be given during the final exam time for this class. The first 75 minutes of the final exam time will be for the class to take exam 3. The remaining time minutes of the final exam time will be dedicated to make ups for exam 1 and exam 2. If a student does not make up a missed exam during the final exam time, the missed exam will be entered as a 0.
Quizzes

There will be 12 reading quizzes in this class. Each of these quizzes will cover the reading assigned for the course, they will be 5 questions long and will account for 10 points. The two lowest quiz grades will be dropped.

These quizzes are used for three reasons. First, periodic quizzes will encourage students to read and study the materials as course progresses. Second, these quizzes will help students prepare for exams because the questions on the quizzes will demonstrate core information from each unit. Third, these quizzes will allow the instructor to evaluate student progress and determine if students have adequately understood material as it is presented.

The quizzes will be given on the Moodle page for this class. Students must make sure they are able to log into Moodle on myLSU and locate the POLI 2051 class on their account on the first day of class. When you log into Moodle, download and print the “signature” file in the syllabus section. Read, fill out, and return the form to me by the start of class on Thursday, January 22, 2015 for 2 points extra credit. A student is not excused from taking the quizzes because they cannot log into Moodle. Quizzes will usually be available for 36 to 48 hours, with a specific start and end time/date listed on the syllabus. Students will have 10 minutes to take the quiz on Moodle. Students are encouraged to use their books and their notes. Students who have a university documented disability may make alternate arrangements to take the quizzes but students are responsible for making arrangements with professor prior to the quiz. A student may retake a quiz only if the student has a documented university excused absence that spans the entire time the quiz is available. To makeup a quiz, the student will have to make an appointment with the instructor to take the quiz at the instructor’s office.

Labs

We will have “labs” periodically through the semester to explore that section’s theme(s). The format of the labs will vary. Regardless of the format, all lab assignments will be completed and submitted during class time unless I indicate otherwise. There are no exceptions to this policy. The lowest lab grade will be dropped. If you miss a lab due to an excused absence, you will be given an opportunity to make up that assignment. If you do not have an excused absence for a missed lab, you will not be eligible for making up that assignment and will receive a zero for that lab grade. There are no exceptions to this policy. This means that lab attendance is mandatory.

Course Materials and Copyright

The handouts used in this course are copyrighted. By “handouts,” I mean all materials generated for this class, which include but are not limited to syllabi, quizzes, exams, lab problems, in-class materials, review sheets, and additional problem sets. Because these are copyrighted, you do not have the right to copy the handouts, unless I expressly grant permission.
Academic Dishonesty and Plagiarism

High standards of academic integrity are crucial for the University to fulfill its educational mission. To uphold these standards, procedures have been established to address academic misconduct.

As a guiding principle, the University expects Students to model the principles outlined in the University Commitment to Community, especially as it pertains to accepting responsibility for their actions and holding themselves and others to the highest standards of performance in an academic environment. For example, LSU students are responsible for submitting work for evaluation that reflects their individual performance and should not assume any assignment given by any professor is a group effort or work unless specifically noted on the assignment. In all other cases, students must assume the work is to be done independently. If the student has a question regarding the instructors expectations for individual assignments, projects, tests, or other items submitted for a grade, it is the students responsibility to seek clarification.

Any Student found to have committed or to have attempted to commit Academic Misconduct is subject to the disciplinary sanctions set forth in Section 9.0. (LSU Code of Student Conduct, Sect 8.1)

Co-curricular Events Policy

Classes missed due to participation in college-sponsored co-curricular events are considered excused absences provided appropriate procedures are followed. In order for the absence to be excused, the instructor must receive notification before the student misses the class. The activity must be a performance, professional meeting, or contest to be considered an excused absence.

An excused absence allows the student to make up exams or quizzes given during the absence, to reschedule oral presentations, or to make some other equitable arrangement as determined by the faculty and the student. Students must recognize that many classroom and laboratory activities cannot be replicated and that absences may be detrimental to the students performance. It is the responsibility of the student to get notes from the class and to compensate as much as possible for the absence. It is also the students responsibility to work with the instructor in determining a time for make-up assignments.
