Peer Learning Activities
These are activities that can be used to stimulate group learning.

Note Taking Pairs
- Work with a partner to fill in gaps in notes to create an improved version.

Think/Pair/Share
- For a specific amount of time, each individual group member should consider/reflect on the content to be studied.
- Then, each pair discusses that concept for a specific amount of time.
- Finally, the pair shares their collective thought with the group.

Learning Share
- Each member develops questions to be compiled into a quiz for the group.
- Predict test questions; reference old exams or quizzes
- Members can utilize open ended questions for critical thinking. For example:

What if_______?
Explain why_______.
Why is_______important?
What would happen if_______?
What is an example of_______?
Explain how_______.
Why is_______happening?
How does_______affect_______?
What is the meaning of_______?
What is the best_______and why?
What is the main idea of_______?
What is a new example of_______?

What is the meaning of_______?
How are_______and_______similar?
How do I use_______to_______?
What are the implications of_______?
What is another way to look at_______?
How does_______apply to every day life?
What conclusions can I draw about_______?
What is the difference between_______and_______?
What is the solution to the problem of_______?
What do you think causes_______? Why?
What are the strengths and weaknesses of_______?
How does_______relate to what I’ve learned before?