Conference Proposal Writing
Proposal Writing Workshop

Thursday, November 8, 2018
3:30 PM - 4:30 PM: Peabody 102

Participants will come together to discuss and understand that one’s research is as good as one’s proposal. This session will give an opportunity to the participants to share their initial thoughts on their research writing and how to present a clearly, powerfully written proposal which can reflect the quality of their research.

This workshop is open to all graduate students interested in preparing proposals for upcoming international and national conferences.
