Integrated learning allows students to make simple connections among ideas and experiences and across disciplines and perspectives. The LSU Integrative Learning Core (ILC) curriculum is designed to develop student abilities to transfer their learning to new situations and demonstrate a sense of self as a learner. A fundamental goal of the ILC is to foster students' practical and intellectual capacities associated with integrative learning in preparation for high competence and functionality in their post-baccalaureate careers. This course fulfills the BoR Area of Mathematics and Analytical Reasoning and provides students experience with the ILC proficiency of Inquiry and Analysis.

Description of activities that will be graded:

Weekly forums/assignments: Students will complete the assigned exercises for each chapter in Bernard for weeks one through six (a total of nine exercises) and will respond to questions posted by the instructor for weeks nine through fourteen (a total of nine exercises). Students will earn 1% per forum/assignment to a total of 15%.

The proposal will include a description of the topic and identify at least 3 articles from the media related to the topic following either APA or MLA format.

Annotated bibliography: Each student will create an annotated bibliography of at least 20 articles from the media for a current issue of interest following either APA or MLA format. The annotation will include an evaluation of the validity and reliability of the source of the article and the article itself.

Media issue analysis: Following the examples given in the appendix to Potter, students will analyze all sides of the current media issue used for the annotated bibliography. This will include an analysis of the content for validity and reliability in order to understand the complexity of the issue.

Mid-term and Final Exams: Exams will be essay exams given online. The questions will address principles, concepts and terms covered in the texts and in the discussion forums. The exam grade will be computed as % correct.

Expectations

LSU's general policy states that for each credit hour, the student should plan to spend at least three hours working on course related activities, including attendance. Because this course is for three credit hours and is online, students are expected to spend a minimum of nine hours each week on some combination of class participation (including discussion forums), readings, homework, and other assignments as specified in the syllabus.

Class Attendance

Class attendance is the responsibility of the student. The student is expected to attend all classes. A student who finds it necessary to miss class assumes responsibility for making up examinations, obtaining lecture notes, and otherwise compensating for what may have been missed. The course instructor will determine the validity of a student's reason(s) for absences and will assist those students who have valid reasons in accordance with LSU PS22.

LSU student code of conduct

You may not resubmit work that has already been used in fulfillment of the requirement of this or any other course. Academic Success

The primary ingredients of your academic success are attending class, managing your time efficiently, taking good notes, and developing good critical thinking and communication abilities. LSU has a number of excellent resources that will assist you in developing these skills. The place to begin is the Center for Academic Success.
