President Collins called the meeting to order at 3:02 p.m. and welcomed Peter Soderbergh, and press representatives Jess Marcon and Carl Redmond. The new Senators were introduced as James Farr, Abner Hammond, James Hotvedt, Ben Jackson, Teresa Summers (Agriculture), Nicholas Canaday, Adrian del Caro, Barbara Jamison, Steven Weintraub (Arts & Sciences) Frank Cartledge, Dominique Homberger, Mary Jane Saunders, Edward Zganjar (Basic Science), Lamar Jones, Jeffrey Ringuest, William Staats (Business) Pat Lawrence, Julian White (Design) Richard Lomax (Education), Danny Wallace (Library Science) Robert Courter, Ronald Malone (Engineering) Charles Grenier (Social Work) Peter Haynes, George Strain (Vet. Med.)

Parliamentary for the meeting was Senator Reagan

1. Approval of the Minutes of the meeting of May 1 1985. There being no additions or corrections, the Minutes were approved as distributed.

2. President's Report

President Collins welcomed the Senators, reviewed the charges and responsibilities of the Senate, and emphasized the need for all Senators to attend meetings or, at least, assure that they are represented by proxies or alternatives as provided in the By-Laws.

President Collins then asked that all Senators, as representatives of their college faculties, strive to help LSU overcome the problems that exist due to the poor financial picture. She stated that this year's Senate must be actively involved in working with the administration and others in trying to improve this situation, that this year we are being asked to place an emphasis on SERVICE, that we might enhance the probability of excellence in TEACHING and RESEARCH at LSU in the years to come.
3. Election of Member-at-Large for the Executive Committee

Nominated were John R. Baker (Arts & Sciences) and Peter F. Haynes (Veterinary Medicine). There were no nominations from the floor.

John R. Baker was elected.

4. Address by Chancellor Wharton followed by Discussion

Chancellor Wharton said that although the state does not provide a working budget, the University is still aiming at excellence. LSU hired new high-quality faculty members, endowments are beginning to generate revenue, the new students are of a high caliber (earned 2,000 more credit hours in Spring Testing this year than last, 20 percent of entering freshmen had ACT scores of 25 or above). The problems that have developed because of lack of state funds are: inability to increase faculty and staff salaries; lack of support funds; inability to increase computer capabilities (50% more demands for time and access each year). Continued low funding will eventually result in our inability to hire faculty and to recruit good students.

The University will have to increase its solicitation of funds from the private sector in order to meet some of its obligations. The faculty are encouraged to be optimistic; not to worry publicly about the financial problems, as to do so might frighten the good faculty and students into going elsewhere; and to remember that LSU has much to offer faculty, staff, and students, and that we must continue to strive for excellence. The Chancellor asked for understanding and stated that it was hoped that some improvement in the financial situation will be attained by January 1. In response to a question, the Chancellor indicated that the faculty should not attempt to "lobby" the legislature or to influence the Board of Regents (leave that to the Chancellor and President), but might well present the University's case to the general public, and to business and labor interests.

5. Old Business

Peter Soderbergh (Chairman of the Committee on General Education, CGED--formerly Core Curriculum Committee) spoke on the name change and what the committee had been doing since May. Five representatives of LSU appeared before the Board of Regents on July 18, 1985, concerning a core curriculum. Four of the five representatives were members of the CGED. Two new members have been added to the committee (Bob Miller [Courses & Curricula Committee Chairman] and Tim Ehrlich, [student]). The CGED committee is continuing to work on bringing a proposal before the Senate.

6. New Business

There was no new business.

There being no further business, President Collins adjourned the meeting at 4:15 p.m.

Respectfully submitted,

Daniel W. Yannett
