GUEST SPEAKER – NIKKI NORTON, HUMAN RESOURCE MANAGEMENT

President Joshua Duplechain introduced Nikki Norton who serves as the Assistant Vice President in Human Resource Management.

Nikki Norton thanked the Staff Senate for the opportunity to speak today. She wanted to provide some updates on several topics with regards to Human Resource Management.

October is Open Enrollment month for benefits at LSU. Employees may elect to change their benefits from October 1 through November 15, 2023, for the 2024 calendar year.

The Annual Benefits Fair is scheduled for Tuesday, October 24, 2023, from 10:00 a.m. – 2:00 p.m. This year, there will be an opportunity to participate in some health screenings during the event to measure things such as glucose, cholesterol, and Body Mass Index. There may also be an opportunity to receive a flu shot. There will be some slight premium increases. Those prices are still being negotiated and be released during the open enrollment period.

Human Resource Management will be implementing an Employee Assistance Program on November 1, 2023, that will be a 24/7 resource for employees. This service will be completely free to support employees during a mental health issue including six counseling sessions per issue. There will also be a mobile application available. Managers will also receive training to help identify these services for employees in their area who may need them.

Human Resource Management is also getting ready for the implementation of Parental Leave. The proposed rule will be effective date is January 1, 2024, pending the Governor’s approval.
State Civil Service is taking the lead on this and is adopting this rule that will provide up to 240 sick hours of paid parental leave without deduction an eligible employee’s annual, sick, or compensatory leave balance. Such leave shall be for a qualifying purpose related to an employee’s child born or placed with the employee for adoption or foster care on or after January 1, 2024. The employee would have to have worked for 12 months with the state to be eligible. Once this is approved the Division of Administration is expected to follow suit and make it available to all unclassified employees as well. This leave would run concurrent to FMLA (Family Medical Leave Act), if needed.

Norton said that Human Resource Management has advocated along with Staff Senate for the Tuition Exemption Program with regards to making it more affordable for employees to go back to school. There are certain fees attached to tuition that are required by state law but there are some fees that are not. HRM is expecting those fees that are not mandated to be waived very soon.

Human Resource Management has been working on degree substitutions with regards to positions on campus. Historically, Civil Service gave LSU the blessing of classifying a position, we would have to require a degree. Otherwise, the employee would have to be in State Civil Service, and we would have to find a job with them that closes aligns with the position. LSU is a place of higher learning, but we are in a different climate with labor shortages and demographic cliff happening, LSU needs to be more inclusive and diligent in what the job requires and does not. There are a lot of hiring managers who feel very strongly about what credentials are required for their positions. HRM has started putting out verbiage on job descriptions to include that LSU is committed to creating an inclusive workplace where employees are valued for their skills and uniqueness. If you do not meet the minimum qualifications as listed but have extensive experience within the major job responsibilities, we welcome your application. There will also be more education with hiring managers to consider those with the applicable skills and experience instead of having a 4-year degree. HRM hopes this will create some more opportunity for people who may not have had that chance.

Human Resource Management recently launched a campus-wide employee engagement survey. To understand the climate at LSU, we encourage all employees to complete the survey which will help drive certain initiatives and programming here at LSU.

Human Resource Management has partnered with Information Technology Services to create a website of salary ranges under compensation on the HRM website. The next set would be to post on the job requisitions as well. Unique job descriptions may not have a salary range listed which could be market driven.

Mandatory Employee Training is due by December 31, except for Power-Based Violence which is due September 30.

There is not a current policy on this right now, but it has been discussed about implementing in the future that anyone who does not complete their mandatory trainings would be precluded from raise consideration.
There are reports being run and given to campus administration about those who have not completed their training, so it would behoove everyone to ensure they are displaying professionalism by completing their mandatory trainings and timely.

For new hires, it is especially important that they attend their training, so they are aware of all of the benefits and resources available.

Beginning January 1, 2024, unclassified employee job evaluations will be conducted on a calendar year basis instead of a fiscal year.

Human Resource Management Talent Acquisition is looking at the candidate’s experience and onboarding. This will help to recruit and retain employees.

Also, Continuing Education Online is looking at offering industry certified training for staff members as well.

The floor was opened for questions.

President Duplechain thanked Nikki Norton for attending today’s meeting.
